Using demonstration programs to test it out. Said Drought is not an allowable exceptional event, but high winds are. So if we can tie in the drought to what IS exceptional in the Act, we can access the provisions. Following up on that. Invited their staff out to the San Joaquin Valley to see the drought impacts and issues first hand. Follow-up with Roger Gorke in the EPA on the NDRP. Plans are already moving forward for that visit so they can see how much the Valley has already done to help themselves with drought relief, to see the human toll it is taking on our people and land. They followed up with staff immediately. Possibility of getting FEMA funding for pre-disaster mitigation that is new. EPA has been reaching out to them to see about leveraging Federal agency funding from several agencies like EPA, USDA, Interior, for this pre-disaster mitigation. John Kimmer from the EPA Region 9 Water Program said there is support from the Drinking Water Revolving Fund provided through the State Water Resources Control Board in the State Revolving Loan Fund Ground Water Recharge – EPA is interested in working with our area to discuss what is already being done in Fresno County.
